

Center for Global Aging Tsukuba

Challenges and Opportunities for Research and Education with Multidisciplinary and Cross border Perspectives

Contents

- The 2nd International Conference on Sep. 29
- Agreement Between the University of Tsukuba and the University of Utah
- International Symposium on Sep. 27
- The Conference of Center on Aging, the University of Utah
- Only-one Research Advancement Program
- Mid-and Short-term Overseas Dispatch Program
- Memories in UK
- Memories in Utah

➤

Memories in Utah

Contact us

Center for Global Aging
Tsukuba Preparation Office

Official Web site:

<http://www.globalaging-tsukuba.org/en/>

Email: info@globalaging-tsukuba.org

Tel: +81-(0)29-853-8849

The 2nd International Conference on Sep. 29, 2014 Call for Papers Abstract Registration :until Aug. 18

The Center for Global Aging Tsukuba Preparation Office will hold The 2nd International Conference cosponsored by Tsukuba Global Science Week 2014 on September 29, 2014. Guest speakers from outside the country will be invited. We welcome your presentations. Please register your abstract and participate in the conference.

Abstract registration deadline: Monday, August 18th noon, 2014

Web registration: <http://www.globalaging-tsukuba.org/en/index.html>

Agreement Between the University of Tsukuba and the University of Utah

Agreement between The University of Tsukuba and The University of Utah in all university level was concluded on Feb. 7, 2014. We envision a program of academic cooperation involving student exchange, and academic and research related activities. In fact, Dr. Marlene Egger of the University of Utah will make one of the key-note presentations at the symposium.

Pictured from left: Dr. Mark Supiano, Dr. Marilyn Luptak, Dr. Nanako Tamiya and Dr. Akiko Kamimura

International Symposium on Medical and Long-term Care to Assist Human Beings on Sep. 27, 2014

We will hold the International Symposium in Tokyo campus on Sep. 27. Professors from worldwide universities are invited as lecturers: Dr. Gerhard Igl, University of Kiel (Germany), Dr. Shinji Teramoto, University of Tsukuba (Japan), Dr. Peter Lloyd-Sherlock, University of East Anglia (U.K.), Dr. Marlene J. Egger, University of Utah (U.S.A), Dr. Soong-nang Jang, and Chung-Ang University (Korea). Detail will be soon announced on our website: <http://www.globalaging-tsukuba.org/en/index.html>

The Conference of Center on Aging of the University of Utah

Members of the Department of Health Services Research participated in the conference of Center on Aging of the University of Utah on March 24 to 25. They exhibited CGAT special booth.

Only-one Research Advancement Program

Having been selected as Only-one Research Advancement Program, Professor Tamiya, researcher Ms. Manabe and PhD student Mr. Felipe Sandoval of the Department of Health Services Research visited the University of Utah in March to participate in the conference of the Center on Aging, the University of Utah.

Mid-and Short-term Overseas Dispatch Program

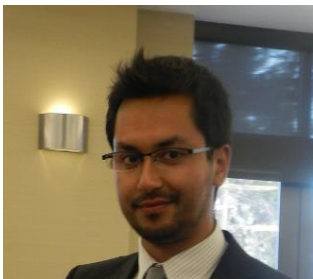

Having been selected as Mid-and Short-term Overseas Dispatch Program, Assistant Professor Yoko Moriyama, Department of Health Services Research visited the University of Utah in March.

Memories in UK

Felipe Sandoval, PhD student

Department of Health Services Research, Faculty of Medicine, University of Tsukuba

The program took place from March 4 to March 16, 2014. The objectives of the program were two: Firstly, to carry out international joint research, leading to international co-authorship, with two prestigious institutions in the United Kingdom, on aging, a subject still not deeply addressed in developing countries. The universities were University of East Anglia and King's College London. Secondly, to strengthen the international research cooperation between our newly created Center for Global Aging Tsukuba (CGAT) and the recipient institutions. The Center for Global Aging Center Tsukuba (CGAT) was selected in 2013 as one of the University of Tsukuba pre-strategic initiatives. As a summary the trip was deeply fruitful. The two researched we worked there are close to be finished be sent for publication.

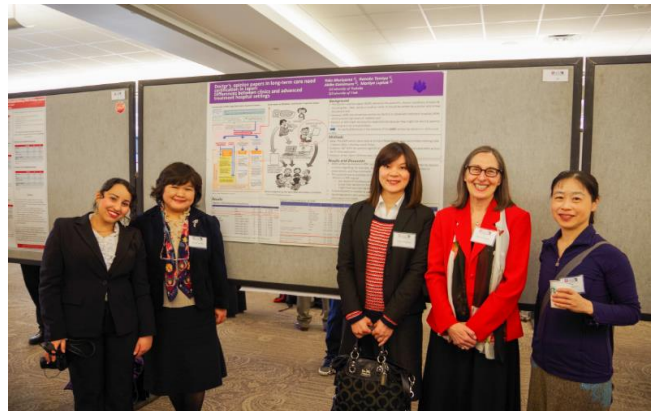

Memories in Utah

Dr. Yoko Moriyama

Department of Health Services Research, Faculty of Medicine, University of Tsukuba

I went to the University of Utah, College of Social Work for 10days by the Mid- and Short-term Overseas Dispatch Program of the University of Tsukuba.

The main purposes are writing a joint paper with researchers of the University of Utah and giving a presentation of that research at the conference. They gave advices to me from many viewpoints of their specialties.

Poster session at the conference with co-author

Mountains and train from the campus

Message to the readers...

We are pleased to introduce lively activities of networking, academic exchanges and research collaboration. Any kind of your cooperation with CGAT will be greatly appreciated.